Work Experiences

February 2022 - Present

Software Developer UNCAL Digital Technology

First of all, I was given the responsibility as a Frontend Developer. My first project was to update the appearance of the company's products. Within three months, I managed to update the product to be better and the system became more flexible. I create it using HTML, CSS, and Vanilla JS (without a Framework).
After that, I was given responsibility for engine maintenance of the product which uses the full java language.
